

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Discusses the Josephs-Graham Engagement—She Hears Several Interesting Bits on Numerous Subjects

The engagement of Margaret Graham to Devereux Joseph is interesting. Peggy Graham is pretty and attractive. She came out season before last and had a beautiful time. She is a sister of Miss Graham who married Riccardo Zimmerman, and of Howard Graham who married Elizabeth Rader. Peggy is in mourning for her late father, Howard Spencer Graham, who died just about five months ago. They lived in Chestnut Hill, you know, in that pretty place on Chestnut avenue and they have a villa in Newport where they spend every out in Newport as well as Philadelphia.

Mary Joseph who has visited in this city on several occasions is a sister of Devereux Joseph. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Colt Joseph and figure largely in Baltimore society. I understand the wedding will take place in the late fall, but will be very quiet. Gertrude Dougherty, who is to be married to a first cousin, comes out next season. He is Elia Hirst and Betty Scott Clark, their mothers having been Miss Gertrude Graham. Miss Edith Graham and Miss Elsie Graham, sisters of the late Howard Graham.

I hear that Ethel Huhn Bailey is entirely recovered from her accident. She was down at Cape May last week. Weathering with the Heckescher and who does wear the prettiest clothes and has one of those wonderful dresses with flowers embroidered into it. Later in the season she will go to Narragansett where she and her father, Mr. George A. Huhn, usually spend a month at least.

Did you hear that the West Frazier, 4th St., has a small son who is to be christened William West Frazier, 4th St. He was born yesterday morning and is a little boy. He is a great-grandson of Mr. William West Frazier who lived formerly at Eighteenth street and Rittenhouse square, but now has an apartment at 1830 Rittenhouse square. His mother was Charlotte Harding Brown, a daughter of Mrs. Samuel Houston, of Chestnut Hill.

EVERY now and then we hear little breaths of news of Philadelphia and other parts of the country. I had a letter yesterday from California, in which I am told that the Y. M. C. A. has just come out there again this summer to stage the Pilgrimage Play. She spent a lot of time in Palestine last year studying the customs and costumes of the people, and in the last nineteen centuries, and has returned full of new set and interest. Mrs. Stevenson organized the play last summer and expects to stage it every night. The Pilgrimage Play performances are given at night in El Camino Real canyon on five or six separate stages. When the action takes place on it stage at the light, the canyon is dark. Each scene is like the most gorgeous tableau. I am told that it is a most impressive sight with perfect lighting and acoustics and weather. The audience is seated tier upon tier at the mouth of the canyon. The play this year opened on the 11th of July and is better than last year, my informant says.

Jim and Willie were heard whispering together the other day about Jack's being gone in his motor. What was Aunt Eleanor's astonishment to hear Jim say: "Well, let's tell his father." "Why, boys," she said, "could you carry that? That's not very manly, is it?" "Don't 'spose it," said Jim, "but Jack says he never cries when he's liced, and he's got to prove it to us."

PEARL WHITE WINS DIVORCE

Film Star Obtains Decree Secretly in Providence—No Alimony
Providence, July 21.—Pearl White, moving-picture actress, secured a divorce here recently, it became known yesterday. As the suit was brought in her real name, Pearl McArthur, rather than under her film name, the actress' identity was not recognized at first.
The utmost secrecy had surrounded the case, which was heard before Presiding Justice Tanner of the Providence County Superior Court on July 5, being one of a large number considered that day. The petition was for a divorce from Wallace McArthur, alleging neglect to provide. The petition was granted without alimony.
Both parties were represented in court. The defendant gave his occupation as a actor. The court action, though contested, was brief and few witnesses were called.
